MRS. JACOB PITTMAN

Tripped and Fell Over a Suit Case on Railroad Train.

DIED IN GREAT AGONY

Her many friends in this county were greatly shocked to hear of the death of Mrs. Jacob Pittman, a daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Fisher, of Thompson township.

Mr. and Mrs. Pittman were married in March last, and went to High Falls, N. Y. to live and were getting along nicely. Last Friday, Mrs. Pittman went to Kingston, a neighboring city, to get some dental work done, and on her return home, in passing through the aisle of a coach on a railroad train she tripped on a suitcase that had carelessly been left in the aisle, and fell, receiving such injuries internally as resulted in her death on the following Sunday.

HIRAM WINK.

Hiram Wink, a highly respected citizen of Belfast township, died on Tuesday after an illness of a few weeks, of inflammation of the bowels. He will be buried today at Siding Hill Baptist church.

Mr. Wink leaves a widow who was a daughter of Baltzer Melott, deceased, and the following brothers and sisters: John A. Wink and William Wink of Belfast township, and Mrs. Wm. Hockensmith of California.

He was about sixty-five years of age and had been afflicted with total deafness for a number of years before his death. In his demise a reputable citizen has gone to rest.

CHERRY GROVE.

Harvey Park, who has been at Lemaster for some time, is now "holding his jaw." He has mumps.

There was a good game of ball here last Saturday. The visiting team stayed and spent the evening attending the box-social and eating cake with the pretty girls. There were several cake-walks during the evening. After the first one was walked off, they all gathered around to get a piece of it, when the cake suddenly walked off into the woods.

Owen Park was a pleasant caller at John Fix's last Sunday. Owen is an excellent singer.

Grant Fix has returned home from Franklin county, where he had employment in a bark job. He expects to return in a couple of weeks.

THE ATLANTIC REFINING COMPANY (Incorporated)

Served Him Right.

Boyd Rhoads was convicted in court at Carlisle last week, for abandoning his infant child, and Judge Sadler sentenced him to pay a fine of $50 and be imprisoned in jail for one year.

The mother of the child told of nights she and the babe spent in pig pens, wagon sheds, and even in the open woods, while her husband lay in a good warm bed not far away at the home of a farmer named Willis Baker. One night there was a fall of snow, and she stripped herself of the greater part of her garments and wrapped them around the child to keep it from freezing.

Balms Stigers.

Balms Stigers, one of Bethel township's oldest citizens, died at his home near Warfordsburg, on Friday, May 21, 1909. Funeral on the following Sunday, and interment in the graveyard at the Penoloway Baptist church. Mr. Stigers was a retired farmer, and well and favorably known. He is survived by three children, namely, Wm. B. Stigers, who owns the old homestead and mill, near Warfordsburg; Dr. P. Elwood Stigers, a prominent physician in Hancock, Md., and Maggie, wife of Joseph Charlton, of Bethel township.

Unanswerable.

Mrs. Newthout, who is one of the sect that finds no evil and no ill in life, has a maid who sleeps at her own home. One morning she failed to materialize and, upon being questioned as to the cause of her absence, gave as an excuse that her father was very sick with rheumatism of the heart.

"But, Mary," exclaimed her mistress, "there is no such thing as rheumatism. Your father only thinks he is ill."

"Yes, mum," agreed Mary. Several days later Mary again failed to put in an appearance. The following morning she took up her duties as usual, but gave no excuse. As an opening to a reprimand, her mistress said:

"I suppose it was your father again, Mary. Does he still think he is ill?"

"Oh, no, mum," said Mary, wearily. "He thinks now he's dead—we're goin' to bury him tomorrow."—New York Times.

Kill The Fly.

Scientific investigation has shown conclusively that the common house fly is one of the most dangerous of pests. It carries about with it the germs of disease and cause incalculable damage. There should be no flies in any house where people live. The following precautions should be observed:

"Keep the flies away from the sick, especially those ill with contagious disease. Kill every fly that strays into the sick room. Do not allow decaying matter of any sort to accumulate on or near your premises. All refuse which tends in any way to fermentation such as bedding, straw, paper waste, and vegetable matter should be disposed of or covered with lime or kerosene oil. Screen all food. Keep all receptacles for garbage carefully covered and the cans cleaned or sprinkled with lime, oil, or other cheap preparations. See that the sewerage system is in good order; that it does not leak, and is not exposed to flies. Pour kerosene into the drains. Cover food after a meal. Burn or bury all table refuse: Screen all food exposed for sale. Screen all windows and doors, especially the kitchen and dining room. Burn pyrethrum powder in the house to kill the flies. If there is a nuisance in the neighborhood report it to the health department."
